LETTER FROM MR. SPURLIN

February 21, 1933.

Editor Clipper:
I do not know anything of interest to write but it is such a beautiful day I can hardly refrain from writing. Sunny days have been so few and far between till I am sure everybody will welcome such weather, especially the farmers, for they have not done much toward preparing for making a crop because of the rainy weather. I suppose it is best that we can not have everything to suit us, for if we had no ugly or bad things we would not know how to appreciate the good and beautiful things. Perhaps this is why we have this depression.

Am in the Pine Level community spending this week with Mr. Alvin Helms and have planned to spend next week with Mr. S. H. Oliver just over the line in Crenshaw County. I enjoyed church services with the people of Mt. Olive Church at Pine Level Saturday and Sunday. This was a treat, for I don't attend church much during the winter months.

Arthur Brisbane says: "There should be no question of allowing beer to be sold in drug stores to which children are sent every day. I would like to know why? If it is not a fit place for children to go where beer is sold, how about grown-ups? The children will soon be the grown ups, why not let them drink with you? The Bible forbids strong drink, so I suppose we want to protect the children from it. But when we drink it ourselves we are teaching the children to do likewise. They like it, and cannot understand why it should be good for grown folks and not for children."

LONNIE SPURLIN.

Miss Pauline Trawick, who is attending S. T. C. in Troy, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Trawick, several days the past week.

Mrs. F. H. Talbot and sons, Kenneth and Ted, spent Monday and Tuesday in Montgomery, guests of Mrs. Bernice Lee Hill and family.

After a visit to Mrs. W. H. Canton, Mrs. Ellen R. Sturdivant returned to her home in Selma last Saturday.

THE ELBA CLIPPER

MEN WOMEN THINGS

After about 15 years work on the daily press, we are now making our last bow to the weekly press feeling that thereby we will broaden our touch with the people of the state in which we were born and reared. We feel that we know it, and we know it better than we know it, and we know it better than we know it.

We know it people. We know it institutions. We know it material resources, and it's our desire to sell Alabama to Alabamians. The state is facing grave problems, and it's going to take men of common sense, vision, energy and good will to lift it out of its present deplorable condition. We are going in this column to write about men, women and things in a kindly way.

Alabama comes first in the alphabet of states as shown on a map at each national political convention, and while its area is 51,998 square miles (7,19 water), yet in spite of its size it is in area the 28th in the sisterhood of the states of the Union. It was admitted to the Union in 1819, and in 1930 had 2,446,248 inhabitants.

We have always loved geography. We were when a boy in the elementary school a Webster's dictionary for drawing a map of the United States from memory, putting in the state boundaries, the capitals, and the rivers. No one ever had to tell us to get our geography lesson. We just revelled in it; and today we have a half dozen or more geographies used in the various grades of the public schools at hand for quick reference.

Let's do an old school boy or girl stunt and bound Alabama. It is bound on the North by Tennessee on the East by Georgia (Chattahoochee River, in which we were almost raised), Florida (Perdido River), on the South by Florida, and Gulf of Mexico and on the West by Mississippi. We recently drove from Birmingham to Tallahassee, and saw how the Flint and the Chattahoochee Rivers came together above the town of Chattahoochee to make the Appalachicola River, the best way, however, to study geography of rivers is from this. This is how we learned about the Coosa and the Tallapoosa making the Alabama.

John Wanamaker, who made advertising his pastime as well as his business, said: "He thought this 50 cents of every dollar spent for advertising was wasted, but the greatest trouble was that he did not know which fifty cents it was, and so he just kept on spending millions of dollars trying and failing out," with the result that he made his name and store a household word in America.

In Central and North Alabama, January and February are usually the best winter fishing months; with February having a slight advantage; while in the Southern part of the State good fishing may be had during any month in the year.

We fear Alabama is not alive to the amount of money being spent by American motorists for vacations, or it would make a greater effort to get more of it. The bill this year for motorists on vacation amount to around two billion dollars.

Here is a hard luck story. Recently a fellow passing through Evgreen offered to pawn his false teeth for enough gasoline to carry him to Montgomery. A garage man traded with him.

Total receipts from sales, leases and other disposition of public lands during the fiscal year 1932 were $4,006,210.76. Original public land entries for the year embraced 4,551,174 acres. The remaining public domain was reported as 175,318,246 acres, of which 123,984,529 were surveyed. There are still some public lands in Alabama.

The late A. T. Stewart, merchant prince of New York, is said to have been a born merchant, as he was sensitive to fine distinctions in texture, touch and color. His taste was excellent; he knew values, and was a good merchandiser. He was ahead of his times in his uncompromising stand on two important principles:

1. To have but one price.
2. To tell the truth regarding everything he sold.

He was Irish and he liked to greet his customers. He watched details as closely as administrative problems. He introduced the custom of giving ten per cent discount to clergymen and school teachers. Some used to do it here in Birmingham, but if any do it now we do not know anything about it.

There is this difference between the hard times at present and the ones the families of the Confederates left at home had to undergo from 1861 to 1865 in many parts of the State: The difference is that food is mighty cheap and plentiful, when then it was scarce and high. Corn bread, greens, syrup and fat meat, when the hope escaped the cholera, was considered a Godsend to many. Corn bread was usually plentiful. Baked meal was used as a substitute for flour in cakes and bread. A sack or barrel of flour was an event in the life of even well to do families in many sections. Neighbors were invited in to get a taste of biscuits. Flour was also husbanded to be used in starch making.

MRS. KENDRICK, RECENT BRIDE, IS FETTERED—

Mrs. J. W. Kendrick, Jr., was entertained Friday afternoon from four to six o'clock with a miscellaneous group of friends by the members of the W. H. A. T. Club, at the home of Miss Louise Morgan.

Decorations were artistic and elaborate, a color scheme of green and pink being used. The guests were greeted at the door by Miss Morgan, and presented to the receiving line which was composed of Mrs. S. R. Morgan, Mrs. Almon Strain, Mrs. J. W. Kendrick, Jr., Mrs. J. W. Kendrick, Sr., Mrs. Arthur Boutwell, Mrs. T. Kendrick and Mrs. Paul C. Morgan.

Miss Nell Brock invited the guests into the dining room, where delicious sandwiches and coffee were served by Misses Sara Mathis and Louise Mitchell.

The table, covered with flit lace, was centered with a bowl of love-ly pink roses. Crystal centerpieces holding mints were placed on the table, and pink tapers burned in silver holders.

Miss Louise Tucker had charge of the "guest book," and Mrs. N. B. Cresswell presided over the display of gifts.

Mrs. Kendrick was charming in a pretty brown flat crepe with trimmings of white, with which she wore a chic Spring hat.

Other guests of honor were gowning in Spring costumes, and the hostesses were lovely in evening dresses in pastel shades.

One hundred guests were in- vited.

Any little soreness in the throat grows rapidly worse if neglected. Crash some tablets of genuine Bayer Aspirin in some water, and gargle at once. This gives you instant relief, and reduces danger from infection. One good gargle and you can feel safe. If all soreness is not gone promptly, repeat. There's usually a cold with the sore throat, so before gargling take two tablets to throw off your cold. Aspirin relieves neuralgia, rheumatism, too. You may use it freely, it does not hurt the heart.

PYROIL

Costs Less Than Nothing

Because it saves more than its cost in Oil alone, and then it saves

MANY TIMES ITS COST IN

Gas, Oil, Wear and Repairs

Increases Gas Mileage and Makes Oil Last

Twice As Long.

PYROIL is on sale by the following Elba Dealers:

Elba Oil Co., Whitman Drug Co., Elba Drug Co. and Peoples Drug Store

WHAT IS PYROIL? WHAT DOES IT DO?

PYROIL is a revolutionary new heat- and wear-resisting lubricant that gives "new life" to ALL motors and machinery. It is NOT a substitute for regular lubricants. It is simply ADDED in small quantity to the crankcase filling and to the gasoline or fuel.

PYROIL builds lubrication INTO the metal. It does what oil alone cannot do. It—(remember these are PROVEN FACTS)—reduces noise; reduces wear; increases power; saves oil; saves gas; frees valves; seals rings—gives thousands of "silky" noiseless, trouble-free miles without repair bills—makes your motor better every mile you ride—is guaranteed absolutely non-injurious.

PYROIL saves more than its cost in the saving of lubricating oil alone. Thus, in reality, it actually costs its user nothing!

Put one oz. Pyroil A to each 5 gals. of gas in tank and

2 ozs. of Pyroil B to each qt. of oil in your crank-

case and forget all of your motor troubles.

Diet Didn't Do This!

HAPPY little girl, just bursting with pep, and she has never tasted a "dose!"

Every child's stomach, liver, and bowels need stimulating at times, but give children something you know all about.

Follow the advice of that famous family physician who gave the world Syrup Pepsin. Stimulate the body's vital organs. Dr. Caldwell's prescription of pure pepsin, active salts, and fresh herbs, a mild stimulant that keeps the system from getting sluggish.

If your youngsters don't do well at school, don't play as hard or eat as well as other children do, begin this evening with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This gentle stimulant will soon right things! The bowels will move with better regularity and thoroughness. There won't be so many sick spells or rashes. You'll find it just as wonderful for adults, too, in larger spoonfuls!

Get some Syrup Pepsin; protect your household from those bilious days, frequent headaches, and that sluggish state of half-heartedness that means the bowels need stimulating. Keep this preparation in the home to use instead of harsh cathartics that cause chronic constipation if taken too often. You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store; they have it all ready in big bottles.

"WHAT IS A KILOWATT HOUR?"

JUST the other day one of our good customers, who uses eight or ten of the newest electric appliances in her home, asked us this question:

"What IS the meaning of a kilowatt hour?" "It always bothers me when I pay my monthly bill."

As other good customers may also be uncertain, the simple explanation of the term may be interesting:

A "kilowatt hour" is the use of one kilowatt (1000 watts) for one hour. It is a unit of measurement. Just like a QUART of milk, a YARD of cloth, a PECK of potatoes, a POUND of meat.

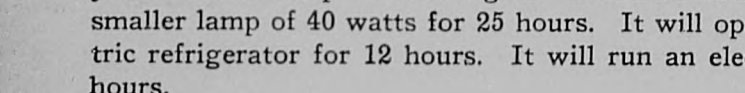

You can't see electricity at work, but you can measure the work it does just as accurately as you can measure any other article. For example:

One kilowatt hour (or KWH as it appears on your bill) will light your 60 watt lamp for two nights—over 16 hours. It will run a smaller lamp of 40 watts for 25 hours. It will operate your electric refrigerator for 12 hours. It will run an electric fan for 15 hours.

Under Alabama's low electric rates, kilowatt hour for residential use cost 37% less than five years ago and 15% less than the average for the country as a whole.
